If you enjoy the early 2D Duke's/Commander Keen platformers you will also enjoy this one, nothing special, solid DOS nostalgia. Ok, sooooo. I like it. SO FAR! This game has soooo much potential. It looks like a game that I would totally spend hours a day on. Like Factorio, Production Line etc. However this game has a good feel to it, like using the pallet jack to move products around your factory, pallet wrapping your outgoing products. Its actually pretty cool. Simple enough but descent graphics, being able to pan the camera around gives you the 3D view. It just has some bugs that hang you up. Havent gotten past the tutorial. You can, just have to be very careful. I restarted the game like 10 times to redo an action or not knowing how to do something. I want to see where this game will go. Devs lets get this game where it needs to be. More content and just a little help with the routing and item interactions. This one will be GOOD!!!!. Simplistic? Yes. Easy to learn controls? Yes. Hard game to figure out? No. Feels like other games? Sure. Bouncing bewbs? Yes.

Very simple beat the crap out of stuff, go from one end of the map to the other, short little story, unlock outfits, dress up the heroine, (Or undress) One man made, game.

For one guy doing nearly all the work, I am actually impressed, the smoothness of the combat, while simple, is pretty damned amazing. Soundtrack is very JRPG, which I dig. Kind of reminds me of a cross of Godhand and Once Upon a Time. Except Cinderalla looks awesome and wrecks hard. Good way to kill some time and not get bored.. Oh boy. The only reason I got this game is because I had odyssey. The only reason I have played this far is to see what Ratonhnhak\ton looks like in the Assassin outfits of people that weren't even born yet. It's jarring.. so ive been playing for a little while. about 91 minutes now, and i must say this is quite a nice little game. its very peaceful and is a nice game for when your taking a break. the storys so far pretty nice and its a bit easy. while the lvls are somewhat repetitive this game is still nice and for 2 bucks i recommend it.

Having distinct units for my tiny little men is definitely worth the $20 I must have spent on it by now. God help me.. This game is dead, I waited 3hours and only one more guy waited in the only lobby with me. Couldn't even play the game.. My First PC Game

>Superb AI

>TOC this is entry team(classic). An interesting game just for killing some time :). One of my favorite games about anarchism and overthrowing authority. https://youtu.be/qwoeHr_ux70

Innovative escape game in the room, since you live it in first person by being virtual reality. The puzzles are entertaining, and you look in every part of the room to find everything you need to win. Very good price, for this great game.. Well, this was way better than I expected.

Your tree is completely simulated through the seasons and years, making you kinda bond with him as he grows and prospers. It's beautifully designed with falling leaves and blossoms, little animals visiting and your tree can even get diseases as he grows older.

It can get quite laggy at times though when much is going on in the background.. Just Buy It. Fantastic game, unique genre blend. Runs ~120fps on my 4y/o hardware. Always active servers. Players are really, really nice. Wide variety of skill levels in current playerbase.
